INDIAN MOTORCYCLE MUSEUM OF AUSTRALIA

419 NEWMAN ROAD
GEEBUNG, QLD

THE MURALS

One of the most striking features of our Museum are the super murals which have been created by Eric Henn from the United States.

An internationally renowned muralist, Eric has been creating large scale murals for over twenty years and many of his works are featured in America's finest aquariums, zoos and theme parks, with some covering areas as large as 49,000 square feet!

Today, Eric's client list includes companies such as Pepsi Cola, Proctor And Gamble, The United States Postal Service, AT&T, Citgo Petroleum Company, Marathon Oil Company, Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" Hershey's Foods and many others. Eric's murals have also been featured on the PBS Special "Super Murals", The Discovery Channel, CNN, Sesame Street and The Apprentice.

Come and see Eric's work and marvel at the incredible detail of each and every one of his unique creations at the Museum.

INDIAN MOTORCYCLE MUSEUM OF AUSTRALIA

When Darryl White officially opened the Indian Motorcycle Museum Of Australia on Saturday March 15, 2014, it was not only the culmination of many hours of hard work and dedication to complete the building's transformation but also the treasured realisation of a dream of Indian motorcycle enthusiasts who envisaged a dedicated place to preserve the history of the famous Indian marque in Australia.

With dedicated indoor and outdoor theme areas, the Museum recreates the charm of past eras while retaining a genuine touch of authenticity and nostalgia in the exhibits for all to enjoy.

See motorcycles from the early 1900's through to post-war models, from board racers and hillclimb bikes to a USA Fire Department sidecar - fascinating motorcycles that helped shape everyday life for generations and have left their indelible mark in history.

Place yourself back in time outside the Rhodes Motorcycle Company shop, be amazed by the vast amount of memorabilia on display and marvel at the world class collection of rare FAM medals on hand.

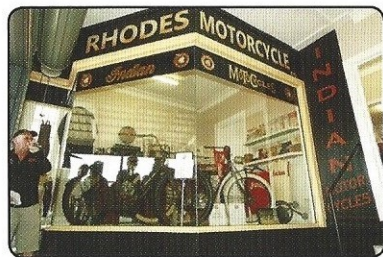

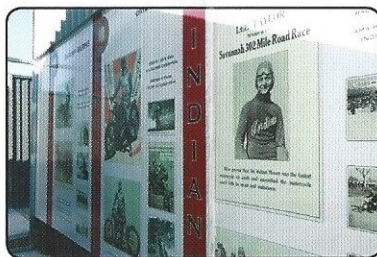

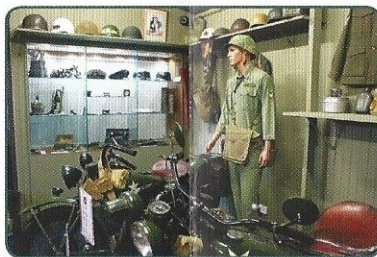

Come and relax for a while, enjoy a coffee and the company of friends and motorcycle enthusiasts at the Indian Motorcycle Museum Of Australia.
